Small wonders and a bright idea

PHOTOGRAPHY: PAUL ZAK INTERIORS: MARIA SOBRINO

Hermès-owned silversmith Puiforcat has never been short of smart ideas, but we're especially tempted by its Argent de Poche collection of sterling-silver, pocket-sized products. Designed by Pauline Deltour, it riffs on the interplay between circles and squares, between grooved and mirror-polished surfaces, in a contemporary take on the art deco aesthetic of the company's founder Jean Puiforcat. Equally pared down, but in an entirely different mode, Jean Nouvel's 'Equilibrist' lamp for Artemide is his interpretation of a 'high-tech traffic light'. Two lights - one square, the other circular - rotate around a vertical axis. The perfect desktop distraction. ✦
